A Cattle Round Up.

The round up begins in the sharp angle formed by the junction of Boise river with Snake river in Idaho, and sweeps northward and eastward, driv ing all cattle before it. The main drive goes by way of Little Camas prairie to the final roundup on Big Camas. Every owner is represented from the begin ning, for every one is liable to find some of his cattle on any part of the hundred mile stretch. It is expected that every owner will be represented in men. horses and "grub," somewhat in proportion to his ownership. All camp together. This year there were about seventy-five men in the camp. The vaqueros are the most numerous and most important class of the herders. Next in rank come the owners of the cartle. Perhaps the third rank is the "rango," whose duty it is to herd the saddle and team horses. There is usually a night and a day range. Last comes or oftner in the ranges where many cattle are being gathered into the herd, or where some are to be taken out; not so often when they are being driven some distance without either gathering or separating. Night herders are usually put out to prevent the cattle from strag gling back from the herd that has been gathered during the preceding day or days. When the cattle are passing one it, they are rounded-up; his cattle are "cut out" one by one, and driven into a herd by themselves; then his herd is driven toward its range, and the main herd moves on. The cutting out is done by riding into the herd and driving the

When the herd swells to thousands in number, and becomes too cumbrous to manage, bands are separated from it, in the same way as before described, and driven ahead toward their respec tive ranges.

Every one looks forward eagerly to the first sight of a herd of three or four thousand cattle; yet the sight is apt to be disappointing, for he is almost sure to greatly under estimate the number. If it were left to itself, it would find its way again into some part of the herd. But in such cases it is considered to be the duty of the cowboy whose station was immediately behind the calt to give it chase. If he succeeds in driving it to an interesting distance from the herd, three or four cowboys on the same side of the herd and one or two of the test mounted from the very fartherest side join in. It is an inspiring sight to see half a dozen stalwart young vavueros bending over their sadd.ehorns and p'ying their spurs and guts to keep their horses in a full gallop over the plain, in pursuit of one little searest and thed calf. But these things are necessary in the business. They are necessary to make a reputation for the cowboy, and pave the way to next year's job of cowpunching. - Ex.

material. The "coming woman" will plan to have her bed set away from the wall for health's sake as well as convenience Modern "conveniences" will be let alone as far as stationary wash basin with hot and cold water is concerned, the portable washstand being used instead, she preferring to do a little extra work to running any risk of being slowly and genteely poisoned. Her bed will be well spread open the first thing in the morn ng, and the sunshine and air invited in to do their part toward airing and cleaning the same and the making of the bed will be the last of the morning duties. -Good Housekeep-

After Diphtheria.

Diphtheria is a terrible disease, requiring the greatest medical skill to effeet a complete cure. Even when its power is broken, it clings to the pitient with great persistency, and often leaves the system poisoned and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla. ted. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it renovates and strengthens the system.
